2. Data subjects

Individuals who have subscribed to e-mail newsletters and/or notifications for the TRA conference by joining the relevant distribution lists.

3. The purpose and legal grounds for register keeping

The data subject has subscribed to e-mail newsletters and/or notifications for the TRA conference by joining the relevant distribution lists. By subscribing, the data subject has given their express and free consent to the processing of their personal data in order to receive e-mail messages. The data subject may also give consent to the use of personal data for marketing of the next TRA event. The data subject has the right to withdraw their consents at any time by cancelling their subscription through the link contained in the newsletters or notifications. The data will not be used for any other purposes than those specified.

4. Content of the data file

The register contains the following data included in the registration form:

- Data subject's name

- Organisation
- E-mail address

5. Sources of information

The personal data is collected from the data subject's subscription.

6. Storing period

The personal data will be stored up to six months after the end of activities connected to the purposes of the conference TRA Transport Research Arena 2022.

The contact information disclosed to the organiser of TRA2024 for marketing purposes based on the data subject's consent will be erased after disclosure.

7. Disclosure of information

The data will not be transferred outside the EU or the EEA. The data subject has the right to withdraw their consent at any time by cancelling their subscription through the link contained in the newsletters or notifications.

In case the data subject has given consent to the use of personal data for marketing purposes, their contact information (data subject's name, organisation, e-mail address) will be disclosed to the organiser of the TRA2022 event.

8. Processing of personal data on behalf of controller

The register data are processed by Magellan - European Affairs Consultancy. The data resides in this company's information system, which is based with the European Union, from where notifications and newsletters are sent to the recipients. Magellan - European Affairs Consultancy operates on behalf of ANI.

9. Rights of the data subject

The data subject has the right to examine the data that concerns them and obtain a copy of that data at their request. Where the data subject makes the request by electronic means, and unless otherwise requested by the data subject, the data shall be provided in a commonly used electronic form.

The data subject has the right to demand the rectification of inaccurate personal data concerning them. The data subject can give consent for the processing of personal data for direct marketing.

Where the controller processes personal data on the data subject's consent, the data subject has the right to cancel their consent. The consent may be withdrawn by unsubscribing the newsletter on the TRA2022 webpages.

In certain situations, the data subject has the right to request restricted processing of personal data or otherwise object to processing of personal data. The data subject also has the right to request transmission of data to another system.

All requests concerning the implementation of the data subject's rights must be submitted to the address tra2022@magellan-association.org

If the data subject believes that the processing of their personal data violates the existing legislation, the data subject has the right to appeal to supervisory authorities. In Portugal, the competent supervisory authority is the Portuguese Data Protection Authority (CNPD) with headquarters in Rua de São Bento, n.º 148, 3.º, 1200-821 Lisboa.
